

Dr Kgabo Hector Ramoroka's Bio

Dr Kgabo Ramoroka is a Senior Research Specialist at the Centre for Science, Technology and Innovation Indicators of the Human Sciences Research Council. His current work focuses on science, technology and innovation for inclusive and sustainable development, including a specific interest in agricultural and mining innovation systems. Kgabo holds a doctorate in Innovation Studies from the University of the Witwatersrand. Between 2016 and 2018 he was recipient of a SA-UK funded PhD fellowship at the University of Essex. Kgabo has authored several scientific articles in local and international peer-reviewed academic journals, as well as book chapters, policy briefs, research reports, short publications, and briefing notes in policy-oriented magazines.